Dear Sir/Ms [Last Name],

I would like to apply for the developer position that you currently have posted. I have carefully read the job description and believe that I have the skills and experience required.

As you can see from my resume, I have extensive experience in web development, including 5 years at the Web Application Company. During this time I have managed to improve procedures within the development department, while reducing costs by 35%. and I have increased overall efficiency. I can also offer:

An exhaustive knowledge of the web development industry, having worked for two of the leading companies in Colombia.

Extensive practical skills in Frontend development.

A particular interest in product planning, having successfully researched the market possibilities of several new product lines that were found to be profitable. I have experience in the supervision of personnel, since in the last 18 months I have led a team.

Your offer is of particular interest to me as your company has an excellent reputation in the web development industry. I would like to be able to discuss my application with you in more detail and hope to hear back in the coming days.

Best regards,

Germán Alzate
